The house was well enveloped in flames when the firemen arrived, but they were successful in checking the fire so that only the roof and part of the second story was destroyed. A Quail-Killer.

The storm began at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and has done business ever since. It has furnished snow, rain and hail at intervals. Tuesday morning the streets were covered with a three inch layer of frozen sleet and hail, which early pedestrians found it almost impossible to remove. Coasting is fine everywhere, as the snow will bear up a sled. Local sportsmen call this sort of storm a quail-killer. If covered up by the frozen sleet which fell Monday night the birds cannot get out, nor can they reach the ground through it for feed. Although the weather is all about were tied up, the local line kept nearly to schedule all day Tuesday.

Bad Walking Sets Property Owners to Discussing Matter of Improving Sidewalks.

More sidewalks for the Groton side of the village is a topic that is receiving some discussion, during these days of sloppy going. An effort is to be made to get the property owners along some of the principal streets to lay cement walks in front of their places. The same rule applies in Groton as in Stonington. The town will pay half of the cost of sidewalk construction and has done so in several recent instances, some of the property owners not having sidewalks in front of their residences are already favorably disposed toward the proposition and the west side of the village may follow the example of the east side and have something done in this line as soon as the frost is out of the ground. There is a possibility that next summer will see several hundred yards of new sidewalk on both sides of the river and that the improvements will be continued annually up to the amount allowed the town department each year for this purpose.

AN ABSOLUTELY TRUE STORY

Of How E. L. Marshall of Shreveport, La., Was Cured of a Stomach Trouble That Kept Him Out of Work for Months.

Shreveport, La.—"I had a bad stomach trouble for years and became so weak I could hardly walk or do any work. My appetite was very poor, then my food would not digest, I bloated and was very weak and nervous, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. It was so bad I could not work for months at a time. I tried too many remedies to name, but without help. I saw Vinol advertised and tried it, and soon noticed an improvement. I continued its use and now my stomach trouble is completely cured. I am a well man enjoying perfect health and have gained in weight."—E. L. MARSHALL, Shreveport, La.

The recovery of Mr. Marshall was due to the combined action of the medicinal tissue building elements of the extract of cod's livers, aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, contained in Vinol, which seldom fails to strengthen and tone up the tired, over-taxed and weakened nerves of the stomach and remove the trouble.
